Legislative Representation

Under the leadership of Long Island's own Dana Schnipper, NYLILA continues to drive significant outcomes through NRLA-NY's legislative committee. Recent months have marked a series of advocacy triumphs, including the prevention of the Deforestation Act, which would have severely restricted products from various countries, potentially disrupting supply chains and impacting market prices. Additionally, the committee successfully advocated for the passage of a bill enhancing members' ability to recover retainage in contracts and charge interest for delayed payments.

Looking ahead to 2024, the committee aims to prioritize workforce development, foster a conducive business environment, further refine retainage policies, and address concerns regarding unfair competition in the marketplace.

Nationally, ABMA, powered by NRLA and CSA, actively advocates for members on issues such as the Softwood Lumber Agreement, tax matters (including the bonus depreciation tax credit), and the Employer Directed Skills Act. These priorities directly impact the broader LBM industry, encompassing the tax environment, supply chains, and business investment. Your continued engagement is vital as we collectively navigate and influence the future of the New York lumber industry.
